No CDI pooling: each point is one ImageNet class or LVIS category. Neither curve is a natural frequency. ImageNet has ~1,300 training images per class by design. LVIS labels each category on a capped set of images (person, the most common COCO object, has 1,928 labeled training images), so its frequent categories pile up at the cap.